Review: Preface states materials were prepared for use of industrial managers and cadres and workers. Contains 18 items, including editorials, government decisions on national and local levels, and reports on the policy and operation of safety and health regulations in state and privately operated mines and factories. The article by Wan Li, which was originally published in the 19 September 1952 issue of the Tientsin Hsin-hua Jih-pao, gives statistics on accidental deaths and injuries in 47 mines and factories during the first half of 1952. Other reports list the progress made in the reduction of industrial accidents and the prevention of occupational diseases. Presents useful information concerning individual factory regulations and local government directives regarding the reporting of industrial accidents and casualties.
